Cancellations & Refunds

Cancellations are always regrettable and we strive to be flexible and understanding in each individual circumstance. In consideration of the small group sizes and the possibility that others may have been turned away, trip deposits are non-refundable.

Guest Responsibility

We ask that you arrive healthy and prepared, with the required equipment and clothing. Our trips have an exploratory element to them and we ask that you come to us with an open mind for adventure and respect for group harmony. Smile in the face of adversity and take the unforeseeable and unexpected with a sense of humor. It is important to follow the directives of the guide at all times for yours and the groups' safety. Anyone who knowingly puts themselves or others at risk and /or does not follow the safety instructions from the guide will be asked to withdraw from the trip.

Cancelled Trips

Due to the nature of operating in remote wilderness areas, Blue Planet Kayaking Ltd. reserves the right to cancel any trip prior to trip departure due to extremely bad weather, poor conditions, and reasons beyond our control and/or unforeseeable circumstances. Blue Planet Kayaking Adventures Ltd. reserves the right to alter the itinerary of any trip for any reason. If a guest is asked to withdraw or willingly withdraws from any trip, no refund will be given and the guest will incur all associated costs of extraction.

I have carefully read and fully understand the contents of this booking and cancellation policy. I also am aware that as a condition of participating in a Blue Planet Kayaking Adventures Ltd. program, I must first complete and sign a release of liability form prior to trip departure.
